SHOPPING IN BANGKOK

Bangkok is one of Southeast Asia’s most popular shopping centers. Locally produced products are the best buys: hill tribe embroidered cottons, wood carvings, jewelry, CDs/DVDs, watches, porcelain, silk and tailoring of clothes are most popular. If you can’t buy it in Thailand, you can’t buy it! We recommend checking with the hotel Concierge to confirm location and operating hours.

Shopping Areas:

- River City Shopping Center: Adjacent to Royal Orchid Sheraton, connected by a short bridge. 2370077-8. Arts, antiques, tailors, hair salon, jewelers – and a great foot massage place!
- Asiatique The Riverfront: The largest riverfront shopping venue in Asia, open 5:00pm-12:00 midnight. Take the Chao Phraya Tourist Boat at the Si Phraya Pier next to the Sheraton, which departs every 30 minutes from 4:24pm-9:24pm and takes approx. 16 minutes. A one-way ticket is 40 Thai Baht.
- Silom Village: 286 Silom Road near Rama IV. Charming shopping plaza with handicrafts, silk, clothes, antiques, restaurants, shows.
- Mah Boon Krung Center: Phayathai and Rama 1 Rd. Clothes and accessories. Tokyo Dept Store, two cinemas and fast-food places.
- Siam Centre/Discovery Centre: Siam Square, Rama 1 and Phayathai Rds. Two connected plazas. A 10-15 minute walk from Central World Plaza (formerly World Trade Center).
- Seacon Square: Srinakarin Rd, other side of the city. One of the largest shopping plazas in Asia. Robinson’s, Lotus department stores, YOYO Land, indoor amusement park, food court, supermarket and 14 theaters! Dry cleaners in the basement.
- Baiyoke Plaza & Pratunam Market: Near Indra Regent Hotel, Pratunam. Great clothes bargains, cheapest t-shirts in Bangkok.
- Emporium: Sukhumvit Rd next to Queen Sirikit Park. Newish and one of the ‘glitziest’ shopping centers in Bangkok. Small designer outlets, a big department store and supermarket.
- Gaysorn Plaza: Ploenchit Rd, opposite World Trade Center. Upmarket plaza with well-known designer stores and good restaurants. Planet Hollywood next door.
- Oriental Place: Soi Charoen Krung 38. 2660186-95. Behind Oriental Hotel, worth going for arts and antiques. Chitralada, one of the best Thai handicrafts outlets, is located here.
- Central World Plaza (formerly World Trade Center): Radjadamri Rd. Eight floors of shops, two department stores, Thailand Duty Free Shop and Tower Records. Gaysorn Plaza is opposite.

Silk:

Many shops are along lower Silom Road, New Road and at the River City Shopping Center, adjacent to the Royal Orchid Sheraton. Call first to confirm address and operating hours.

- Jim Thompson: Surawongse Rd and Rama IV. Finest silk, ready-made clothing, and gift items. A bit more expensive but reliable. Check out their two factory outlets! The “Jim Thompson House” is also interesting to tour. Ask the hotel’s Concierge for information (and also about getting to the Jim Thompson outlet!).
- Shinawatra: 67 S. Sathorn Rd, near Soi Suan Plu. 286-9991--4. Silk materials and ready-to-wear. Neckties, handkerchiefs, scarves. 9:00am-9:00pm Mon-Sat.

- Rasai Siam: 23 Sukhumvit Rd. Elegant arts and crafts in a traditional Thai house at fair prices.

DINING OUT IN BANGKOK

Thai food, contrary to popular myth, is not fiery hot (although some dishes are spicy). Its beauty is the variety and assortment of flavors: rich curries and tangy soups, spicy salads, stir-fried dishes and succulent seafood—all eaten with liberal helpings of fragrant rice. Calling first – or checking with the hotel Concierge - to confirm location, operating hours, etc, is recommended.

Bangkok Food Tours:

Discover why Bangkok is the ‘food capital of the world’ by taking a culinary tour with Bangkok Food Tours. A ‘friend of NESAs’ recommended the “Best Eats Midnight Food Tour by Tuk Tuk”, but there are several fun options to choose from, including floating market and canal tours. NESAs’s friend said: “They buzzed us all around Bangkok in tuk tuks... stopped at some great street-eat places. . .plus some of the amazing sights of Bangkok at night. The food was awesome, even for the ‘first time overseas, not-so-adventurous’ people -- and the whole experience was just fabulous.” bangkokfoodtours.com

Pubs and Bars:

- Sky Bar: This open-air bar on the 63rd floor of the imposing State Tower building is the hottest spot in Bangkok for drinks and views of the city. 1055 Silom Road, Tel. 2-624 9999, 6:00pm-1:00am. No shorts or sports sandals! (Click here for more nightlife spots with great city views.)
- Spasso’s: Grand Hyatt Erawan Hotel, Rajadamri Rd. Up-market bar, Italian restaurant and night-spot with live music. Pricey, but it’s the place to ‘be seen’ weekends.
- Saxophone: 3/8 Phayathai Rd, Victory Monument, 246- 5472, 248-2100. Jazz and blues music. Serves food.
- About Cafe: Maitree Jid Road. One of the ‘coolest’ places, full of artists and photographers.
- Brown Sugar: Soi Sarasin. Popular, cozy jazz bar with entertaining ‘jamming’ sessions nightly and spicy Thai food.
- Bull’s Head: Sukhumvit Soi 35. Pub with ‘beer and cigarette’ feel; popular with Brits, but locals enjoy authentic decor.
